No. Pg. 1756, dated 22nd May 1899.

The following Notification issued by the Government of Madras, is republished for general information:—

No. 390, Ootacamund, May 2, 1899.—Whereas His Excellency the Governor of Fort St. George in Council is satisfied that there is danger of an outbreak of plague in Satvachari village in the Vellore taluk of the North Arcot district, if pilgrims are permitted to assemble at that village on the occasion of the ensuing Ganga Jatra festival:

In exercise of the powers delegated to him under the Epidemic Diseases Act, 1897, His Excellency the Governor in Council is pleased to prohibit pilgrimage to the festival from the 16th to 31st May 1899; both days inclusive, and to direct that during this period no tickets to travel by railway to Katpadi junction and to the stations of Tiruvallam, Latteri, Virinchipuram, Kavanur, Gudiyattam on the south-west line of the Madras Railway and the stations of Ramapuram, Vellore and Kaniyambadi on the South Indian Railway, shall be issued within the district of North Arcot to any person intending or believed to be intending to attend the festival. All persons proceeding to Satvachari in contravention of this Notification will be sent back.

No. 12096—J. 1602, dated 15th May 1899.

To ensure uniformity of practice in all Jails and Lock-ups in the Province in the matter of calculating the date of release of prisoners, the Government are pleased to direct as follows:—

1. In calculating the date of expiry of a sentence of imprisonment in a criminal case, the day upon which the sentence was passed and the day of release should both be included and considered as days of imprisonment. Similarly, if a convict is released on bail, pending appeal, or if he escapes, the day on which he was released, or escaped and the day on which he was re-admitted, or re-captured, shall both be counted as days of imprisonment.

Illustration 1.—A prisoner sentenced on the 1st January to one month's imprisonment should be released on the 31st January and not on the 1st February.

Illustration 2.—A prisoner sentenced on the 1st January to one month's imprisonment escapes on the 15th January and is recaptured on the 16th. He will be entitled on the original warrant to release on the 31st January.

2. When a prisoner is sentenced to two or more sentences, the date of release shall be calculated as though the sum of the terms was awarded in one sentence.

Illustration.—A prisoner sentenced on the 21st of November 1890 to two substantive terms of imprisonment of one year each, should be released on the 20th and not the 19th November 1892.

3. When a prisoner's sentence consists of so many months with or without the fraction of a month, the date of release shall be calculated by adding the number of calendar months to the date of the sentence, the fraction (if any) being reduced to days.

Illustration 1.—A prisoner is sentenced to one and a half months' imprisonment on the 2nd February. The date of his release will be the 16th March.

Illustration 2.—A prisoner is sentenced to 6 months' imprisonment on the 31st May, the date of his release will be the 30th November.

4. The following method shall be adopted in calculating the date of release of a prisoner who after conviction is released on bail pending the hearing of his appeal and is afterwards re-manded to jail to serve out his sentence, or who escapes and is at large for a certain period. Add to the term of his sentence the number of days the prisoner is on bail or at large, exclusive of the day of release and recommitment to custody, or of escape and re-capture; the date on which the sum of these periods will elapse, counting from the date of conviction, is the date of expiration of sentence.

5. If the prisoner be sentenced to imprisonment of which the whole or any portion is in default of the payment of any fine, and if the fine or a portion of it be not immediately paid, the dates of release shall be calculated and entered in the Release Register, so as to correspond both with payment and with non-payment of the fine. If any portion of the fine is subsequently paid, the date of release shall be altered accordingly.

Illustration.—If a prisoner be sentenced on the 1st January to 6 months' imprisonment and to a fine of Rs. 300, and it be ordered that if the fine be not paid he be imprisoned for a further period of six months, then supposing that the prisoner, immediately on conviction, pays Rs. 100, the date of release shall be first fixed at 31st October (viz. 6 months + 4 months, the equivalent of the fine unpaid); if he afterwards pays another Rs. 100, the date will be changed to 31st August and on his paying the whole, to 30th June.

6. If a prisoner who is sentenced to a fine, and in default to imprisonment for a certain number of months, pays any part of his fine, the reduction of imprisonment to be made in consequence of such payment shall be calculated in calendar months, and not in days. Any fraction of a month obtained by such calculation shall be reduced to days. When the fraction thus obtained is not exactly equal to any number of days, or is less than a single day, the portion of a day which results shall be considered and treated as being equal to a full day.

Illustration.—A prisoner is sentenced on 1st January to a fine of Rs. 300 or in default to 6 months' imprisonment. No part of the fine is realized except a sum of twelve annas. He should be released on the 29th June, though the amount realized is less than the full amount due for a single day.

7. If a prisoner escapes and on re-capture receives any fresh sentence for the escape, the date of release shall be re-calculated in accordance with the provisions of Section 396 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, and the date of release thus arrived at, shall be entered in the Release Register in place of the original date of release.

8. When the Appellate Court simply modifies a sentence passed by a lower Court without change of sections, or when the Appellate Court passes a new sentence by changing the conviction section or the punishment section or otherwise, the sentence finally passed shall count, unless otherwise specially directed, from the first day of imprisonment under the original sentence.

9. If a prisoner sentenced to imprisonment in default of payment of fine only, receives another sentence on some other account while undergoing such imprisonment, the second sentence shall begin from the date on which the first sentence expires, or if the fine is paid, from the date of payment. It should be remembered that imprisonment in default of payment of fine is a punishment for non-payment.

Illustration.—A prisoner is sentenced on the 31st January to a fine of Rs. 30, or in default to two months' rigorous imprisonment and on the 12th of February of the same year he is sentenced on another account to an additional imprisonment for four months. The fine is paid in full on the 28th February. The sentence of four months should begin from the 28th February, and not from the 31st January.

Note.—But see Section 398 (2) of the Criminal Procedure Code as amended by Regulation I of 1888 in regard to sentences of imprisonment in default of payment of fine, which are annexed to several substantive sentences of imprisonment or transportation.
